Content Connection:

In Math & Science, students will continue to work on rounding to the nearest 10 or 100. In Science students will learn to identify different science tools.

In ELA & Social Studies, students will continue to learn about writing personal narratives, analyzing character traits, using context clues and identifying adjectives. In SS, the students will begin a unit on the different regions of South Carolina.

In Read 180 Workshop 1, the student will focus on main idea and details, prefixes, and suffixes. The students will write explanatory compositions. They will read independently and will complete comprehensive graphic organizers and complete software segments.
