Content Connections

Math & Science: In Math students can solve addition problems with and without regrouping. In Science I can identify heat and thermal energy.

ELA & Social Studies: In ELA students will be able to ask and answer questions, identify capitalization rules, and identify an informational piece of writing. In Social Studies students will continue to develop an understanding of location and significant features of SC and will begin identify the 6 regions of South Carolina.

In Read 180, students will begin rotating through software, independent reading, and small groups. Soon, students will begin Workshop 1: Fires Out of Control and learn to identify the main idea and supporting details of a text.
